> TWO TYPES Described by Rev. R. S. Cushman in Baccalaureate Address.

In has baccalaureate sermon to the senior class of Killingly high school, Rev. R. S. Cushman said in part:
"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman who needeth not to be ashamed. We might infer from there words that Paul was acquainted with two ideals of success and transfer. with two ideals of success and twe types of so-called successful men. Let us look at them. They are familiar. One is get rich honestly if you can, but get rich; get position, get power, get success, honestly if you can, but get it.

"The motto of the other type of man is Study to make the most of thyself. These are two distinct ideals. The one places wealth and power and position first—the one sees success as within. The one makes success the result of wealth and honors; the other makes success the result of wealth and honors; the other makes success the result of ability and self-improvement.

"The one says get success and the "The one says get success and the other says be a success.

Easily Discouraged. Too many want success before they have earned it. They become discouraged before they have half tried. This is why the shores of life are strewn with wreckage. Study to show thyself to be a workman who need not to be ashamed.

The busy, practical world requires success and asks the question, Does he bring things to pass?—Is he a growing man? Does he know his business? Does he speak with authority? It is a sad fact that the earth is encumbered with the corpses of men who are walking about. I quote here from a book on Ginger Talks. Some men a book on Ginger Talks. Some men are dead long before they are buried. It is a delusion that a man has to walt 50 or 60 years to die. If the spirit of the man—the soul of hope and courage within his breast—has been extinguished, he is as dead as he ever will be, even though his body continues to walk the streets.

The True Ambition. But in the last analysis we never can make the most of ourselves. We never in the truest sense can be a success until we take into account the Great Master of the world. A man can only expect to make the most of himself by being a fellow worker with God. Be ambitious, but remember there is an ambition that will sting like a viper those who misuse it in life. Ambition may be the lodestone of failure or the kneynote of success. Link your life to God.
